Sure, it might make sense to loop [redacted] in this call as well given he's probably closest to them with overall relationship & [redacted] is part of a broader deal.

Hi team,

To give more context, [redacted] has not been approved to onboard to XRP II, LLC for a [redacted] arrangement. They were not far from the finish line a few months ago but went dormant on their end. Happy to reinstate process once it's in alignment with the Markets team.

Have a great weekend!

Let's have the markets team discuss early next week and revert to you. This does seem like good demand to hit the markets, as opposed to being fed directly from the supply source.

Breanne & Markets Team-

Last December we signed a BD deal with [REDACTED] (see attached). As part of that deal, they intended to source the XRP sold through their mobile app to mom and pop crypto investors through our [REDACTED] program. We had several calls with them to talk about how the operations would work a few months ago and they were working towards real time settlement mechanism where they would be able to match withdrawals from their segregated wallet to individual orders in their app as opposed to lump sum withdrawals for the day's total trades.

I know there was some talk of re-evaluating the [REDACTED] program, and since compliance is almost complete with the on-boarding process, we were curious if this a relationship we would still like to pursue?
